Notes:

1. In general the other models of the switches int he same series may have similar test results. However, we strongly recommend selecting the switches based on the above list for best results.

2. The test result of the switch with JPEG2000 series products, namely, EJ100,DJ100, CJ100

3. According to the information from a site, some models of Niveo switches support Alternative B pin configuration of PoE specification but some of our old products support only Alternative A now, so the PoE feature may not be fully supported.. As a temporary solution, please purchase models supporting Alternative A from Niveo to ensure smooth operation.
